a good look at the suspects and are positive that they are not the men.

The police frankly admit that they do not believe Eberhardt and Kennedy are the men wanted, but it is believed that they know something about the affair. To a prisoner in the city jail, one of the suspects is said to have remarked the day of the shooting that there would be something doing with the Japs that night. This remark and the hasty departure from Ogden, which was being attempted by the two young men, prompted their arrest. Several other clues are being investi-

FUN PLANNED BY ELKS FOR "KIDDIES" BEGINS TONIGHT

"Look who's here! and don't you forget for a moment that the Purple day of the Elks is going to be a hummer," said an active member of the Elks Sunday. "We've just finished the detail work for the kiddos who who are our guests at Wandamere Tuesday, and those orphans are going to have the time of their lives."

And this talk is being made by a thousand Elks today. You know what that means? It means that the biggest day's business in the history of Wandamere will be Tuesday. It means that the happiest crowd of people ever gathered at this popular resort will be those who are the guests of the purple and white boys on that day.

There'll be something doing every minute for all the kids and the Elks will be the busiest of the busy caring for the little lots and showing them the good time. All day it will be moving to their entertainment, from the moment they land in the machines until sleep light in the hope of the morrow.

The public generally has taken a remarkable interest in the outing for the orphans, lansmuch as the entire proceeds are for the benefit of the orphanses in the city. Thousands of tickets have been sold and are still on sale at different stores. None should miss the opportunity to do good, be good and have a good time.

ASPIRANTS FOR OFFICE PLENTY IN CASSIA

Special to The Tribune.

HURLEY, Ida., June 19 - Many aspirants for nomination at the forthcoming primaries in Cassia county are out with amouncements in the local papers of the county, and are otherwise making known that they are in the race for office. So far only candidates before the Republican primaries have ventured into the field, and the rivalry for place on the Republican ticket is expected to be quite spirited. Gienn M. Dewey of Albion, who, together with his father, is extensively interested in farming in southern labo, is out for assessor and tax collector, and George A. Smith, who has been a clerk in the county offices for several years, seeks the nomination for auditor and recorder. T. Bailey Lee, who for the past two years has filled the office of prosecuting attorney, seeks renomination, while W. Q. Pratt, deputy sheriff of Cassia county, would like to be the Ropublican candidate for sheriff. David A. Taylor, manager of Taylor & Sons store in Burley, is out for representative. This completes the list of candidates at the present time, although it is expected there will be many more in the field before the primary election in August.

Licut, Gov. L. H. Sweetiger seems to be "it" for renomination to the office which he at present so ably fills. The people of Cassia county take especial pride in the last session and have urged him to seek the nomination a second time. Petitions from all parts of the state are be-Special to The Tribune.

With a record in the signers pledging themselves to support inn if nominated. With a record in the secate above repreach or crificism, little chance is given for a formidable rival to oppose the Cassia county candidate.

A graduate of Yale university and rained in the art of parliamentary practice, Idaho's present lieutenant governor, lends a poise and dignity to the office which is absolutely essential for the orderly dispatch of business in the upper house of the state legislature. Besides having a liberal college education, L. H. Sweetser has had a varied experience in different business enterprises in southern Idaho. He is one of the substantial cifficens of the county, one of the Burley school board, and a willing worker in every movement which tends to better conditions in his home town of Burley, Cassia county, and the state of Idaho.

THE WAY OF A SPOTTER IS TO A WHIPPING

Special to The Tribune. PROVO. June 19.—The path of the "spotter" in Utah county is not one strewn with roses, but on the contrary it is a hard one to travel. Andrew Nellson, a resident of Spanish Fork, has been son, a resident of Spanish Fork, has been hired by the officers of his home city to detect and prosecute violations of the prohibition ordinance, and while engaged in hunting down the supposed "bootleggers" went over to the little town of Salem, where liuor and beer are dispensed in a licensed saloon, and told Thomas Warner, the saloonkeeper, that he wanted to buy a case of beer, Mr. Warner had previously been put wise to Nellson's scheme and was ready for him. Instead of seiling Nellson the beer, Warner took down a black whip which he kept handy for such occasions and proceeded to give Mr. "Spotter" Nellson the hardest whipping he ever received. After a good, sound drubbing, Nellson was thrown into the street, Nellson, of course, then wanted revenge and asked to have a good, sound drubbing. Nellson was thrown into the street. Nellson, of course, then wanted revenge and asked to have Warner arrested for assault. The Salem town officers refused to prosecute, and the county officers winked the other eye and smiled when the subject is mentioned. Warner has not been arrested, and judging from the sentiments expressed by those who know of the circumstance, he will not be prosecuted. The minions of the law express themselves as satisfied that justice has already been meted out, and propose to let the matter rest where it is.

It was in Spanish Fork that three men were apprehended in burglarizing a warehouse to get liquor to be used as evidence in prosecuting alleged violators of the prohibition ordinances, and the indication is that the spotters will go to any length to get the evidence, even if they have to buy it from a regularly licensed house.

The merry war of baliots continues with unceasing ardor, and it is clip, clip, clip on to victory

Already merchants are said to have noticed an increased demand for sers sors, and were at a loss to understand the heavy run on the market for long, sharp ones

The reason has been discovered. It is because so many who have friends aspring to be winners in The Tribune and Telegram contest, and are minus a good, sharp pair of seissors, are purchasing them, so as to be able to neatly clip the ballots.

It looks as if the seissors market might be entirely demoralized, for some of the ballots taken from the box yesterday were not clipped at all, but simply torn from the paper and deposited.

Ballots must be neatly trimmed when voted. This rule is not made in harshness, but from necessity and in a kindly spirit. It is also of material assistance to those assigned to the counting to have the little slips tied in packages and the number marked thereon. Many are now doing this.

Rumors are rife about different efforts that have been made to secure votes, and attempts on the part of some of the contestants to discourage

There is nothing quite so convincing as the facts and the figure, we advertise more than all other collection agencies in the world, the know, advertising costs lots of money, and to print the names of apple we collect money for in all of the newspapers, periodicals and from New York to San Francisco that we advertise in is impraction from New York to San Francisco that we advertise in is impracting these few which we print from time to time tell you in unmistakely and our success. If we can collect for all others we can collect for you pile who owe you will feel better when they have paid you, and the this association will be a permanent record in their favor showing the paid. It is a pleasure for us to tell in our rating book and in our particular to merchants, bankers and others of the people who pay. Throw points to merchants, bankers and others of the people who pay. Throw points to merchants, bankers and others of the people who pay are record, but nowhere outside of this latitution is there are cord kept of the man who pays after he was once "down and out."
